Enjoy the Greatest Show on Dirt with the Ghost Players, the Harlem Globe Trotters of Baseball, as they travel the world as warm hearted, comedic ambassadors of the best that the American Heartland has to offer – baseball, tomfoolery, and good old-fashioned family fun.

GHOST PLAYER follows a group of aging Iowa locals who have come together for the love of baseball and dreams. This documentary, told through the lens of an appliance salesman, tells an uplifting, inspirational, sometimes tragic, and often hilarious story of how a group of middle-aged men gave up on their childhood dreams, are offered one chance to bring those dreams back to life, and take it.

50 WORD SYNOPSIS

GHOST PLAYER chronicles the adventures and misadventures of an unlikely team of middle aged baseball players. In 1989, Hollywood shot the movie FIELD of DREAMS in Iowa. Little did anyone know this blockbuster would spawn a comedic baseball show that would have an 18-year run and travel the world?

125 WORD SYNOPSIS

GHOST PLAYER tells the story of how this zany team ranging from a farmer to a state representative moved audiences around the world and changed the players' lives forever. From Dyersville, we follow the Ghost Players around the world as warm hearted, comedic ambassadors of the best that the American Heartland has to offer – baseball, tomfoolery, and good old-fashioned family fun. We see them bring the comfort that only baseball can give to men and women stationed in the military in the far-flung corners of the world. But most of all, we witness how America's favorite pastime and a Hollywood movie set can give one group of men from a small Iowa town a second chance to live the life they've always dreamed.
